Will It Do Any Damage?

Both Fighters Fit, Bout to Break Record For 10-Round Affairs

Willard's Share $55,100 and Moran's $26,750—Challenger's Backers Predict Unexpected Will Happen at Bout-Experts Do Not Believe Champion Will Be Knocked Out.

NEW YORK, March 25.- The stage 18 set, the fighters trained to the minute and the last word in preparation said for the richest limited round fight in history, when Heavyweight Champion Jess Willard and Frank Moran will meet in Madison Square Garden tonight. The heavyweight champ'onship may change hands on the result of the battle, which has the entire country waiting with expectancy. But Moran can come into the title only by knocking the champion out. Willard will enter the ring the favcrite. Experts can not believe that this superman, a product of the Western plains, can be knocked insensible by the challenger, considering his advantage in height weight, and reach, though Moran's hitting powers and boxing ability is conceded. Moran's backers predict the unexpected will happen.

Not only will the fight break all records for ten-round affairs from the financial standpoint, but the greatest crowd in the history of the fight game in New York will witness the

Between 12,000 and 13,000 men and women from every walk of life will be at the ringside. From the fight who took his chance in line for a $3 or $5 seat to boxes below where governors, former Cabinet ministers, noted doctors, lawyers, actors, actresses, mayor, and other celebrities will be found, the mammoth Garden will be packed to the roof. More than 1,000 women are expected to wit-

At almost the last moment, the vast sum which Willard and Moran will receive for their thirty-minutes work in the ring has again been boosted. Willard to Get $55,100.

Willard will receive $55,100 instead will receive $26,750 instead of $23,750. The late increase is due to the sale of the moving picture rights for the fight, in which both fighters share The pictures were sold for $10,000 Willard receiving 51 per cent and Moran 30 per cent.

The total receipts of the fight are expected to reach $140,000, and possibly

Both Are Confident.

If confidence alone could win a fight. then both Willard and Moran would be certain of victory tonight. In statements both declared their only thought was of victory.

Both expected to win by a knockout. Willard has said he will finish the fight with one nunch, if possible, but is certain of putting over a finisher before the tenth round is reached. Moran says he expects to put Willard out within seven or eight rounds.

In-Fighting Expected.

With Charley White, noted as referee of big bouts, as the third man in the ring, the men will be handled by a of disapproval. There were no knockveteran. Each must take care of himself in clinches. Considerable in-fightaelf in clinches. Considerable in-fighting is therefore expected, but the men must broak at the referee's order.

The champion and challenger took things easy today. The only concern of their trainers was to keep the minds of their charges off the coming battle. Moran was out for a brisk walk early this morning, a good rub-down and then rest, with only enough light exercise to keep his muscles flexible was the program for the rest of the day.

Willard followed the same schedule, except for a final conference with his manager, Tom Jones, on the plan of battle.

Expert opinion on the big fight is beairly well divided. There has been little betting. The forme- cham-who will witness the fight pick John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons believe the big man will Willard and Moran, on Eve of Big Contest for Title, Supremely Confident.

NEW YORK, March 15 .- Both Jess Willard, world's champion, and hi challenger, Frank Moran, are supremely confident of victory on the eve of their ten-round contest at Madison Square Garden tonight, "I am going to knock Moran out in the shortest possible order. His right never will get near enough to had me. I never in my life was in better shape than I am today for the Moran shape than I am today for the Moran fight. I have trained down almost to ringside weight and expect to enter the ring weighing about 215 pounds, a reduction of 15 pounds. I will rest up for about a month after beating Moran and then go out again with the circus," says Jess Willard.

Moran, from his camp issued the following statement: "If I feel as good when I enter the ring as I do this minute I have no doubt I will be teturned a winner, whether the fight spoes ten rounds or not. I have never before felt the axillity and health that I have now. Willard has never been accused of being anything but a fair boxer. Speed is usually a lacking quality in a man of such huge size."

Frank Moran Needs Coin He'll Receive

NEW YORK, March 25 .- Frank Moran has made only about $15,000 out of the fight game, as compared with Willard's nearly a quarter of a million. Frank, while not a recklessly reckless spender, is liberal with Celtic liberality and has not hung on to all that $15,000 by any manner of means. He is not, however, a pauper, nor would he be even if someone should tap him on the koko tonight after the show and take tonight after the show and take that $23,750 he is to get. Moran really needs the money and it will be up to him to husband that 23 thou' wery, wery carefully if he loses tonight, because defeat in this fight would be apt to bar him from the hig fath reaser for from the big fight money forever and ever after.

Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, had hard work to conquer Harry Donahue in the bout that followed the Welsh-Whitney encounter, Starting tamely the bout developed into a wrestling contest at the end, with the honors for clean hitting slightly in favor of Kilbane.

Donahue, who entered the ring with Donande, who entered the ring with the reputation attained by a draw with Packy McFarland, showed nothing of the skill which would, allow him to out-point such a man as McFarland, and the bout proceeded tamely.

Boston College Will Have Brickley on Job

Boston College teams have been weak, but it is now hoped that a victory can be obtained over Holy Cross, the other Jesuit college in Massachuseits.
